AERO-LIFE SIGNS AGREEMENT WITH COLORADO DISTRIBUTOR

--Enviro-Water Solutions to market, install and service aero-life aeration systems throughout Colorado--

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M., July 16, 2004 – aero-life aeration systems, a provider of environmentally friendly wastewater treatment solutions for restaurants and food service operations, announced today that it has signed a distributorship agreement with Denver-based Enviro-Water Solutions. Enviro-Water Solutions provides commercial and residential aeration-based wastewater systems throughout Colorado. Under the agreement, the company has exclusive rights to market, install and service aero-life systems in its current market.

"This technology is innovative, helps save water and is an environmentally safe solution to grease trap maintenance," said Mark Denchfield, president, Enviro-Water Solutions. "Initially, we will be targeting the food service industry and restaurants throughout Colorado. We also believe there is an untapped residential market of people who have mountain homes that use septic tanks, and they could benefit from the technology as well."

The aero-life aeration system is a proprietary application of natural aeration that converts food service grease traps into mini wastewater treatment plants by creating a healthy, oxygen-rich environment in which kitchen wastewater can be cleaned and clarified without the use of chemicals. The system is also very cost effective, enabling restaurants and food service operators to reduce their costs by as much as $10,000 per year.

aero-life currently has systems installed in more than 60 restaurants and food service operations in New Mexico, and is in the process of building a team of national distributors. The agreement with Enviro-Water Solutions marks aero-life's second distributorship outside the company's home state of New Mexico, the first being Aqua Solutions, LLC, in Hawaii.

"The Colorado market offers some particularly good potential because of its positive economic climate," said Dean Keller, aero-life president. "In addition, we've seen a high level of interest from business owners who are looking for 'green,' energy efficient products and responsible solutions to treating waste."

About aero-life aeration systems
